Transcript:

When we think about the words and the things that we ought to say, consider that we ought to speak words that build people up. That's not to say there's not times to correct people, there certainly are, but we ought to speak words that are good for edification. We ought to help people learn how to love God and serve him better,

Paul says in Ephesians Chapter four, Verse 29. Let no corrupt word proceed out of your mouth. But what is good for necessary edification that it may impart grace to the hearers.
